

ROOSEVELT'S WOUND MAY BE A MOST SERIOUS ONE STATE PHYSICIANS TODAY

WOUND RECEIVED IN MILWAUKEE LAST NIGHT PROVES MORE DANGEROUS THAN AT FIRST THOUGHT.

IN CHICAGO HOSPITAL

Absolute Quiet is Ordered for the Patient—Wife Hurries on From East—Many Telegrams of Condolence Received From Prominent Persons.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt's wound is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious wound in the chest, said a bulletin issued this afternoon by physicians at Mercy hospital. At 12 p. m. the following bulletin was issued by doctors attending Col. Roosevelt at Mercy hospital:

The wound was not probed. The point of entrance was to the right of and one inch below the level of the right nipple. The range of the bullet was upward and inward, a distance of four inches, deeply on the chest wall. "There was no evidence of the bullet penetrating the lung. Pulse 90, temperature 99.2, respiration 20, leucocyte count .82 at 10 a. m. No operation to remove bullet is indicated at the present time. Condition hopeful, but wound so important as to demand absolute rest for a number of days. Signed Dr. John B. Murphy, Dr. Arthur B. Egan, Dr. Scurry L. Terrell, Dr. R. J. Sayle.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt slept for two hours after arriving from Milwaukee this morning in this city and when all was in readiness for his removal to the hospital he was awakened by one of the surgeons. Several flash light pictures were taken of the Colonel as he passed out and as the camera men snapped their lenses, he said "Gosh, shot again," and chuckled. As he strode to the motor car in waiting the Colonel saluted the newspaper men with cheery "good morning, good morning."

The X-ray examination of the wound in Colonel Roosevelt's breast located the bullet in deep but apparently at safe distance from the lung. A telegram was at once sent to Mrs. Roosevelt in New York by the Colonel's orders.

It read: "Present examination shows no further danger besides that which you were informed from Milwaukee. Respiration good, pulse normal, bullet in safe place. No blood expectorated."

The Colonel walked into the X-ray room of the hospital without assistance. He was reading a dispatch as he walked down the hall and looked up from the sheet and joked with those near him, on account of his pajamas having been forgotten in his trip from his car. He showed much interest in the preparations for the radiograph.

The Colonel at nine o'clock was much stronger than he was early in the morning according to attending physicians. He was bright and cheerful and had rested. He suffered little pain from the wound he declared. "Tremendous strength and the vitality of the Colonel are being presented again," said Dr. Terrell. "I expect his physical condition to bring him through."

The statement made by physicians after taking an X-ray picture of the wound follows: "The Colonel has just been removed from the operating room. We have a series of plates and are waiting for Dr. Evans to develop them."

It has been stated that he will not go on the road again but will return to his home. He is normal in everything. He says he is feeling fine and can feel little pain inside. If an operation is necessary, Dr. Sale says it can be performed with only a local application of cocaine. The X-ray plates which formed the subject of the consultation between Dr. Mercey and Dr. Evans showed the course of the bullet and have taken a dangerous direction. Under the last series of plates showed it to have entered the thoracic cavity. The wound is in the right breast one inch above the nipple. The course of the bullet is downward and toward the breast bone. Col. Theodore Roosevelt shot by John Schrank, a would-be assassin in Milwaukee last night lies today in Mercy hospital "resting easily." Half a dozen of the most noted and skilled surgeons in Chicago led by Dr. John B. Murphy, made an X-ray examination of the Colonel's wound and announced that the bullet did not pierce the lung, but had lodged in the chest. They had not planned to operate this morning.

Medical men shown the official statement issued by the surgeons attending the Colonel seemed to think conditions most favorable. In their opinion the chief danger would lie in the formation of puss within the chest cavity as the bullet did not penetrate that far this danger was, of course, obviated.

on your fortunate escape from more serious injury. I trust you will speedily recover."

Dodge said he feared the government suit to dissolve the Harvester Company might arouse adverse criticism and he asked Mr. McCormick to take the money back. The question finally was left over to Gov. Wilson. "The governor said he was perfectly willing to receive the money and was not afraid to take it," said Dodge. "Mr. McCormick gave the money just as he would have given it to Princeton University."

Senator Oliver's questions brought out that Thomas D. Jones, another contributor to the fund was connected with the Harvester Company. Mr. Dodge told of loaning $25,000 to the Trenton, N. J. # WOULD-BE ASSASSIN WHEN TAKEN INTO COURT PLEADS GUILTY TO THE COMPLAINT

MAN WHO TRIED TO KILL ROOSEVELT IS ARRAIGNED IN COURT THIS MORNING.

TELLS STORY TO COURT

HELD UNDER SEVEN THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS BAIL—IS APPARENTLY INSANE—DREAMS OF BEING ORDERED TO COMMIT CRIME.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15.—"I appeal to you to join with us to work and fight but with charity and kindness and with generosity—to bring about the social and industrial justice." With these words the Colonel ended his speech here last night which was delivered after having been shot in the breast by John Schrank as he was about to enter his auto to go to the Auditorium.

The Colonel concluded his speech in softened tones without gestures. He spoke nearly an hour and a half with a thirty eight calibre bullet in his body. The wound is a ugly jagged one located over the tenth rib and is three inches deep.

Colonel Roosevelt was shot as he left the Gilpatrick hotel for the Auditorium by John Schrank, of New York, who stepped to the side of the automobile and fired one bullet into the Colonel's breast. He was quickly overpowered and placed under arrest and for the time being it was not thought Mr. Roosevelt was injured.

Later, however, it was discovered he was shot but he insisted in making his speech and after a hasty examination by physicians, was allowed to do so. He was hurried to Chicago last night at one o'clock and taken at once to a hospital for medical treatment. The news of the shooting caused much excitement and threats of lynching the would be assassin were heard on all sides.

The man is evidently crazy and insists that he was directed to do his mad act by the spirit of William McKinley. He says he has followed Roosevelt from Charlestown, S. C. to Milwaukee, seeking his life at every city he visited.

John Schrank the man who attempted to kill the Colonel by shooting looked little the worse for a night spent in a cell at the Central station reposing on a plank for a bed. Schrank called for a cup of coffee and something to eat at 7:00. He was given a sandwich which he ate although he said his appetite was not very keen. The prisoner will probably not be taken into court today. It is expected he will be arraigned during the day and to await advice from New York of his record there. "How do you feel this morning?" was asked the prisoner as he sat on a plank in his cell at the Central station.

"Oh, pretty well, everything considered, but I am not used to sleeping on a bed quite so soft as this one," he added pointing to the width of board on which he was sitting just inside the cell door and stretched the width of the enclosure.

The Colonel's assailant still sticks to his story told last night that he was the victim of a vision which came to him some time ago. Asked as to whether it was his desire to kill the former president, he said it was not.

Schrank is a single man and says he has had but one sweetheart in his life. She was Miss Emily Zeigler, he said who lost her life in the disaster which befell the steamer Slocum in New York harbor a number of years ago. Schrank appeared undisturbed over the consequences as the result of the shooting. He talked rationally this morning.

Asked as to his politics, he said, he usually voted the democratic ticket, but sometimes he voted the republican ticket. The district attorney it is expected will shortly be requested to issue a warrant charging Schrank with assault with intent to kill. Until this is done and the request complied with, the prisoner will remain in his cell at the police headquarters.

The central station bore a deserted appearance this morning, only those having business there being in evidence. Schrank is treated as an ordinary prisoner and is confined in the first cell reached after passing through the door of the outer or public office of the station keeper. No one can pass through this door which is kept locked without the permission of the station keeper. The cell is on the first floor and cannot be seen from the outside of the building.

"Do you want this case tried in a hurry?" interrupted the district attorney. "Yes, sir," said Schrank. "All right," remarked Judge Neelen. "I think this disposes of the matter as far as we can go this morning. I will fix the bail at $7,500, the maximum under the charge upon which the prisoner has been arraigned." Schrank was then led back to the ante-room and later removed to the county jail.

Judge N. B. Neelen of the district court immediately after the arraignment of John Schrank, ordered Prof. E. W. Summer, head of the chemical department of Marquette university, to make a chemical test of bullets remaining in the would-be slayer's revolver. Judge Neelen announced this action was taken to determine immediately if the bullet which entered Col. Roosevelt's body had been poisoned. The judge said that his action was prompted by memories of the poisoned bullet which killed President McKinley and also by a personal desire to give the surgeons at Chicago every possible aid in treating Colonel Roosevelt's wound.

ROOSEVELT'S ASSAILANT ONCE LIVED IN BOWERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—John Schrank, would-be assassin of Colonel Roosevelt up to a month ago was a lodger in the White lodging house at 156 Canal street, just off the Bowery. He had stayed there for nine months occupying a room which cost him $2.00 a week. Gus Jost, owner of the house, said he had known Schrank for a long time, although said Jost "was an old-time saloonkeeper on Elizabeth street. He used to come here often to my place for a lunch and a glass of beer. He was a quiet fellow and I often fell in for a chat with him. For a long time I did not even know his name."

TRIED FOR MURDER SEVEN YEARS AGO

Mrs. Elise Hobbs Raymond of Poland, Maine, Accused of Taking Life of Mattie Hackett.

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Elise Hobbs Raymond of Poland, who has been confined in jail here since she was indicted for murder last April, will probably be tried at the term of the Kennebec county court that convened today. The case is one of the most notable in the criminal court of Maine. Mrs. Raymond is accused of the murder of Mattie Hackett, a young girl of Readfield, who was called from her home by an unknown person on the evening of August 17, 1905, and strangled to death in a thicket near by. Suspicion soon fell upon Mrs. Raymond an acquaintance of the murdered girl, who was believed to have been jealous of her. Mrs. Raymond and her husband gave an account of their movements on the evening of the crime which established an alibi that the state could not find evidence enough at the time to destroy. Last spring, however, the prosecuting attorney presented newly discovered evidence to the grand jury, with the result that Mrs. Raymond was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree.

SUFFRAGE QUESTION SUBJECT OF DEBATE

PHILOMATHIAN CLUB LADIES HEAR ABLE DISCUSSION AT FIRST MEETING OF YEAR.

MRS. EDDY IS HOSTESS

At Home of Mrs. D. Skelly On Saturday Afternoon—Mrs. H. D. Murdock Reports on Convention.

Arguments for and against suffrage for women were presented in a forcible manner at the first meeting for the year of the Philomathian club. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. D. Skelly, 715 Fourth avenue, on Saturday afternoon with a large attendance. Mrs. Lillian O. Eddy was the hostess.

The affirmative side of the equal suffrage question was presented by Mrs. C. H. Wierick and the negative was treated by Mrs. T. O. Howe. The discussion was spirited and covered the main points of the question.

Mrs. H. D. Murdock gave a report on the meeting of the State Federation here last week. Mrs. Walter Helms gave a reading and Mrs. A. C. Thorpe read a paper on "Suffrage in Colorado."

Owing to the fact that the November election is fast approaching the papers in the debate will be of interest. They are given below: Mrs. Wierick's address was as follows:

"Ladies of the club:—After hearing as you so recently have, done, such speakers as Miss Addams, Mrs. Shepard and others, I feel that I shall be unable to offer any new argument in favor of suffrage. According to our time-honored Declaration of Independence, 'All men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.' Do these so-called self-evident truths relate only to man, or in the broader and more inclusive sense to mankind in general. Shall a mere accident of sex deprive a woman of any of these God-given rights?"

"We have women doctors, lawyers, architects, and in herself in nearly every profession, but until recently she has been quite unknown as a citizen. The idea that your husband is representing you at the polls is a snare and a delusion. Would any male member of your family consent to being represented?"

"I believe the whole structure of 'Woman's Suffrage' rests upon a foundation of firm rock. It is too of woman's innate desire for well-doing for her desire to maintain the sacredness of her home, protect her children, and advance all interests which will work for the betterment of humanity. This, of course, has always been her aim, but she has been handicapped because she had no voice in the law-making. Hence, the desirability of the ballot."

"There is no love so deep, so pure, and so true as mother-love. Do you not believe that every mother will consider most carefully every measure which concerns the welfare of her child? Woman is largely a creature who is bound by duty. She surely will not be oblivious when we are privileged to cast our ballot nor shall we fail to cast said ballot upon each and every possible occasion."

"Some say we shall lose our dignity by mingling with men at the polls. Now, then, have we maintained it? Have we been able to converse with the butcher, the baker, and the candle-stick maker? Surely our dignity can not be so fragile as some might think."

"Perhaps we shall prove to be the beneficial little yeast-plant which is needed to leaven the mass called politics. In the states where suffrage exist women have been found to care little for affairs of a purely partisan nature, rather are they interested in questions affecting education, cleanliness, public health, and morality and all matters relative to and productive of a more perfect home life. And here is the key-note of the whole matter for most of us. Why should we not have a voice in the promotion of all that is best for that, to us, dearest spot on earth—Home? Not only our own but the homes of thousands less fortunate than ourselves who are forced to maintain some semblance of a home at a cost which we cannot comprehend."

"The labor troubles of women workers have brought more of them into suffrage ranks than any other one thing, and in Chicago the labor and suffrage movement are more closely allied than in any other city in the United States. Some one has argued that women are not eligible to suffrage because they cannot bear arms, only to be met with the retort,"

Training School Students Enjoy Social Gathering Last Evening—Interesting Conference Saturday.

Members of the literary society of the Rock county training school held a very delightful reception at the school quarters last evening. An informal social time was enjoyed preceding the program after which refreshments were served. Miss Mabel Francis was the presiding officer. Following is the program:

Saturday's Conference.

Saturday was a profitable day at the training school, profitable for the visiting graduates and also for the under graduates. It is probable that the idea of holding a conference for the benefit of those who have gone out from the school will become a permanent part of the training school system. Several graduates were present and they expressed themselves as well satisfied with the day's experience. Superintendent Attled spoke to all of the young teachers and gave many helpful suggestions. Practical school problems were brought up at the conference with the principal and several difficulties were set right. Miss Jacobson was able to offer much practical advice as to ways and means. Each of the young ladies spoke to the school in a pleasing and effective way at the afternoon program.

Training School Notes.
Prof. H. L. Tetty, a representative of the state department of education, was an official visitor at the training school on Tuesday and inspected the work of several classes.

Principal Lowth spoke to the students recently concerning the recommendations of the various committees of investigation relative to improvements in the country school conditions; and also changes in the certification of county school teachers. That the need is great there is no question, and it is to be hoped that the next legislature will take the matter in hand to the end of a better education for country boys and girls.

Bessie Lowry of the town of La Prairie visited her cousin, Alice Lowry at the school Monday.

Miss Callahan, daughter of Supt. Callahan of Menasha, and teacher in the Adams school, spent Saturday forenoon visiting classes in the training school.

The program for the Monday evening reception is published with these notes. The program was a most enjoyable one, and it is expected that several programs of similar character will be given during the year. The social training of the students is considered equally important with the other work. The students are given instruction and practice in this activity whenever the opportunity offers.

The school room has recently been prettily decorated with drawings of autumn leaves and flowers. Branches have been brought in to afford an artistic background.

The physical geography class has the past week done some effective work in placing colored relief maps upon the blackboard.

The following graduates of the class of 1912 were at the training school on Saturday: Jennie Haugen, Rachel Ehringer, Irene Sands, Alice Wilder, Ruth Hemingway, Cora Thorson, Florence McKinnon, and Elsie Gooch.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAM GIVEN LAST NIGHT

Knights of Columbus Observe Columbus Day With Fine Entertainment at East Side Hall.

Members of Carroll Council, No. 596, Knights of Columbus, and their ladies last evening observed the four hundred and twentieth anniversary of the landing of Columbus with an entertainment in East Side Odd Fellows' hall. Saturday was the anniversary of the occasion, but last evening was a more convenient time for the celebration. At eight o'clock an excellent program of musical and literary numbers was given, closing with a splendid address on "The Discovery of America," by Fr. William Mahoney, assistant pastor of St. Peter's church. At half past eight o'clock, dancing was begun. A large number of the Knights and the ladies were present at the festivities, and it is hoped to have October 12 made a holiday in this state, as a number of the other states have already done. The program for the evening was as follows:

Selection ..... K. of C. Orchestra
Tenor solo—"My Heart Has Learned to Love You" ..... Edmund Leary
Violin solo ..... Miss Ethel Crowler
Bass solo—"In the Silent Deep" ..... John T. Murphy
Selection ..... K. of C. Orchestra
Vocal solo—"When the Dawn is on the Road" ..... Miss Della Fitzpatrick
Reading ..... Miss Florence Weber
Address—"The Discovery of America," ..... Fr. William Mahoney

OPENING CONCERT OF APOLLO CLUB

Music Lovers of City Well Pleased With Entertainment By Zukowsky and Miss Gallaheer.

Nearly every seat in Library Hall was filled last evening for the opening concert of the Apollo Club and anticipation was keen for both Zukowsky and Miss Gallaheer have appeared here before and a musical treat was certain.

Mr. Parker, president of the club prefaced the recital by a few words, setting forth the prosperous condition of the club, its purpose, musical and stimulus, added to this a guarantee of the good things in store for its members during the present season.

To Zukowsky, of course, must go the greater share of the glory of the evening. His art is unique and constantly becomes more broadened and refined, and his playing makes for keenest delight. Such a warm, splendid, opulent tone; such temperament and musicianship places him in the very front rank of violinists. He was badly handicapped last evening by some of the accompaniments, more noticeably on the "Carmen Fantasy." This number has never been heard here before. It is most brilliant and so enormously difficult that only a great artist could cope with it. Mr. Zukowsky's numbers were all greeted with enthusiastic applause to which he kindly responded.

It is stated that Zukowsky has been recently appointed concert master of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, one of the highest honors to be obtained in this country.

Last evening marked the first appearance of Miss Gallaheer here in serious work and great interest was apparent on the part of the audience and it is a pleasure to state that she scored a decided triumph. Miss Gallaheer is possessed of beauty, great charm and an enchanting smile.

These would win for her favor with an audience less respectful than that of last evening, but added to this she has a mezzo voice of lovely quality, especially rich through the lower and middle registers. She entered into her work with nerve and sang with admirable poise and finish. Miss Gallaheer, the pianist, furnished two numbers on the program and all the accompaniments, truly a strenuous evening for one of her capabilities. Her second group brought out two pleasing novelties, a waltz by Cyril Scott, and a Sarabande by Debussy. She responded to an encore by Schumann's Arabesque.

MERCY HOSPITAL FINANCE COMMITTEE HAD MEETING.
Reports of Work Done in Securing Subscriptions Heard at Meeting Last Night.

A meeting of the finance committee in charge of the subscriptions for the fund for the erection of the new Mercy hospital held a meeting last evening in the mayor's office at the city hall. Several members of the committee were not present, but reports from those who attended show that the work of collecting funds is progressing. Adjournment was taken until next Monday evening, when a list of subscriptions received will be made.

PAWNED A FRIEND'S RAZOR TO GET MONEY FOR DRINK.
Robert Jeffrey Resorted to "Sharp Practice" According to Story Told the Police.

To pawn his friend's razor in order to get money for a round of drinks might be termed a sharp practice even though it does not come under that legal classification. It would probably depend upon the razor. Robert Jeffrey, of whom this story is told by the police was arraigned on a mere charge of drunkenness so the razor was not introduced as evidence. Jeffrey plead guilty to the charge and in default of a fine of $100 and costs went to jail for six days. Others who received similar sentences were John McCann and Fred McBride. McCann was able to pay his fine. John Money went down for ten days in default of a fine of $5 and costs.

EDGERTON FARMER VICTIM OF NIMBLE PICKPOCKET

C. N. Anderson, deprived of $90 in bills and $40 note by stranger Saturday Night.

Friendliness shown an amiable stranger by C. N. Anderson, an Edgerton farmer in this city Saturday night resulted in his being deprived of a roll of bills amounting to $90 and a $40 note. The two men were drinking in a South River street saloon when the theft took place, but it was not until Sunday morning that Anderson discovered his loss. The note and bills were in a wallet in his breast pocket, and the thief took only the note and the money and put back the purse. It is thought that the theft was the work of the same men who stole articles from the Grubb and Pond & Bailey stores Saturday evening. Mr. Anderson has not notified the police of his loss.

Sport Snap Shots

by Dan McCort

The owners of the New York and Boston baseball clubs, now battling for the world's championship, are probably secretly hoping that there will be more draws. By rule of the national commission, following the world's series of 1910, players share in the receipts of the first four games only, irrespective of ties.

Harry Wuest, the most popular heavyweight boxer that ever represented Cincinnati in the prize ring, is witnessing some of the world's series games in New York. He has $500 posted to meet any white hope in America.

Leslie Bush, the sensational pitcher of the Missoula, Mont., team of the Union Association has been picked up by Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics. Bush won thirty-four out of forty-seven games played this season.

The Denver team, champions of the Western league, having just defeated Minneapolis, champions of the American Association, now wants to meet the winner of the world's series games at New York and Boston. There is little likelihood that any such series can be brought about.

Miss Lillie Smith, the champion woman swimmer of London, recently swam from Dover to Ramsgate, a distance of nearly twenty miles, in 6 1/4 hours. In 1875 Capt. Webb covered the same distance in 8 1/2 hours. In 1906 Jabez Wolfe reduced the record to 6 hours 35 minutes.

Miss Smith will try to swim the English channel.

The Princeton football eleven suffered its first serious accident a few days ago when "Bush" Dunlap dislocated his shoulder while making a tackle. Dunlap will be out of the game the remainder of the month. This will handicap the team considerably, as he was one of the regular star wing men.

Harvard and Yale will meet in their annual cross-country run on November 16, over the Chestnut Hill course at Brookline, Mass.

If Jim Corbett, who had an operation for appendicitis the first of the month, ever was in serious danger, he is out of it now. He is in a hospital at Philadelphia, and is reported as being "much better."

August Belmont's famous stallion Rock Land has been sold to a French syndicate headed by Chert Halbronn for $150,000. Belmont bought the horse in England for $120,000 in 1906.

Blink McClosky is hot foot after Eddie McGorty. McClosky has just arrived from abroad, victory-flushed after a successful tour. His most notable achievement while abroad was his twelve-round knockout of Marcel Moreau, the French middleweight champion. It took Billy Papke seventeen rounds to accomplish the same feat. McClosky also disposed of Dixie Kid in three rounds.

CHARGED WITH BOLD MURDER, GEORGIA FEUDISTS AWAIT TRIAL IN ATLANTA JAIL

Painter Brothers and Mrs. Painter Wright.

When Mrs. Painter Wright left her home in Fannin county, Ga., recently, in the custody of two United States marshals, she took her first ride on a railroad train and entered a world beyond the 20 mile radius of her home in the hills. She is charged with conspiracy in one of the boldest murders in the North Georgia hill country, the ambush of Mont. Hughes, at his home in Jasper, and the branding of the babe he held in his arms. The assassination of Hughes marks another blood-stained chapter of a mountain feud which has been waged for years. Four have already been slain. Mrs. Wright is in Atlanta's tower for safe keeping. The Painter brothers, alleged to be the men who fired on Hughes, are also in the tower for safe keeping, pending their trial.

To Cure Soft Corns.

BOWLING SEASON IS OPENED LAST NIGHT

Cardinals Take Two Games From Maroons in Initial Match at Hockett's Alleys.

In the first bowling match of the season at Hockett's alleys last evening, the Cardinals took two games from the Maroons defeating them in the total score by nearly a hundred pins. The season, as opened last night by the teams of the Janesville Bowling League, will continue until December, a schedule of games having been arranged until that time. A schedule for a longer period will then be prepared for the remainder of the winter. There are six teams in the league. The Blues and Browns meet in a contest this evening.

There were no very high scores last night as most of the men went into the game without practice. Mead scored highest, 197, in the first contest. Detailed score was:

TO PLAY JEFFERSON SATURDAY MORNING

High School Eleven Prepare to Defeat Rivals on Local Gridiron This Week

The football management of the Janesville High School has arranged the Jefferson game for Saturday morning of this week. It was first thought that it would be impossible to arrange this game for the morning, but after a long discussion with the Jefferson officials, an agreement was made. The game will start promptly at 10 A. M. Practice for the local team this week will be strenuous, as a hard game is expected. Jefferson was decisively defeated by Madison last Saturday by a score of 51 to 0. If the locals can do the same stunt, they have a chance at Madison. Will they do it? That depends on whether or not the city of Janesville turns out for the game, and gives it hearty support. Think it over you followers of this sport, and be on hand to cheer for the locals.

NOTHING DOING.

The reception of Governor McGovern in Racine, where it is reported that less than a corporal's guard turned out to hear him, is likely to be repeated in many other cities throughout the state. The people generally are satisfied with the estimate placed on him by Senator La Follette, and the tar barrel episode will cling to him long after the campaign closes. Just how the men associated with him on the state ticket manage to rub up against him, without becoming contaminated, is not very clear to many republican voters.

The spirit of indifference which annoyed McGovern, exists in all parts of the country. A speaker for the progressive party made a trip of 400 miles to keep an engagement in Missouri, the other day, and was unable to secure an audience.

Mr. Allen and Senator Thurston failed to stir up any enthusiasm in Janesville, during their recent visit. A letter from Seattle, the other day, said that no one was interested in politics on the coast, except the politicians. These are the conditions the country over, and the crop of votes secured by spellbinders, will be very meager.

People have decided what they want to do, and when their verdict is filed in November, it may result in many surprises. Personal interest will prompt many of them to decide to let well enough alone. The average corporation never makes a change in management, except for cause. The federal government is the largest corporation in existence, and its stockholders are generally satisfied because they are prosperous. There is no occasion for a change in management, and if personal interest, as well as public welfare is considered, there will be none.

DELINQUENT TAX LISTS.

The Tecumseh, Neb., Chieftain recently printed as an advertisement the list of delinquent taxpayers in Johnson county for the year 1911. The list was the smallest it had ever been. It occupied, with the introduction, 39 inches of space.

In October, 1896, the list of delinquent taxpayers for the same county occupied more than an entire page of the same newspaper, set in the same type and with the same introduction. In addition the paper in 1896 was full of advertisements of sheriff's sales, receiver's sales, accounts of sales of properties to pay debts, etc.

"These are the facts," says the Chieftain, "substantiated by figures. The records are on file on this office for your disposal. Investigate for yourself. Do we want to return to the old condition of things?"

That's the difference between good times and bad. Why take any chances on a change of national administration?

ANOTHER VICTIM.

The attempted assassination of Colonel Roosevelt in Milwaukee last evening is another blot on the fair name of our country, and emphasizes the fact that we are still harboring a class of aliens which have no right to exist on American soil.

It may be found that the assailant was demented and not responsible; in that case he should have been locked up long ago. But if it is shown that he is an anarchist, and the tool of black hand conspiracy, then it is high time that the red flag and its sympathizers were abolished from the land.

Three martyred presidents have paid the penalty for harboring this class of outlaws, and if the life of ex-President Roosevelt is spared it will not be because of any error in the intent of the man who shot to kill.

This tragedy is the climax of an exciting campaign and how it may affect results, is difficult to forecast. Sympathy for Mr. Roosevelt will be universal, for the American people are possessed of a common instinct. That he may speedily recover from the wound will be the prayer of all the people.

WHEN THE PAPER DIDN'T COME.

Cussin' the paper ell of the time, Blamin' its printin' of outrage and crime,

Hatin' its politics, fillin' the air With epithets almost liftin' the hair; Cussin' to tell it but loathin' to hate; Cussin' and cussin' till weary and glum—

But cussin' it most when it doesn't come!

Dad-blamed sheet! Is the way they talk,

And into it heavy and hard they walk;

Tear it to tatters and wake the street With cussin' the paper, the no 'count sheet;

But let something happen it doesn't come,

Cussin' it then till their lips grow dumb!

Down in the store when the mail comes in,

Raisin' old Harry and makin' a din About its not publishin' this thing or that,

Rippin' your shirt and tossin' your hat When the postmaster—smilin' his usual way—

Says that the paper's not showed up today!

Never a paper in all of the land That people weren't cussin' to beat the band,

And snarin' and growlin' and callin' it names

And sayin' them fellers is up to their games;

Cussin' till cussin' is turned to a hum—

But cussin' it most when it doesn't come!

Cussin' the paper in city and town, Blamin' it up street, blamin' it down;

Callin' it reckless and lyin' and mean, No such a paper as that ever seen;

Maulin' and grubbin' it under their feet.

Every one cussin' the paper you meet—

And cussin' it harder and harder yet When sometimes there's nary a paper to get!

The jingle of this homely production from an exchange, has a sort of familiar sound, as one irate subscriber puts it: "Your paper didn't come last night, and my wife needs it to put on the pantry shelves."

If the good work of cleaning up the city amounts to more than a spasm of virtue, it will be because every law-loving citizen backs it by moral support.

This is not a financial campaign, and no one is barred from participating on account of money. All that is demanded is courage to stand by the committee of fifteen in their efforts to aid the city authorities in enforcing the law.

MARY'S SKIRT.

Mary had a little skirt,

And it was built so tight

She had to hire a chambermaid To peel it off at night.

They had to carry her around

And lean her 'gainst the wall,

Because the skirt so closely fit

She could not walk at all.

She ate her meals off from a shelf

Because she dared not sit

Down in a chair like other folks

For fear her skirt would split.

But Mary didn't kick at all,

It was just as she'd wish;

She couldn't hop around the house

Or wash or wipe a dish.

Mr. Pettigrew's Snake.

Mr. Elias Pettigrew, the eminent faunal naturalist and snakeologist has a pet blacksnake which is the wonder of the neighborhood.

The snake is up to all sorts of cute little tricks and is about 20 feet long. If it were any longer no doubt Mr. Pettigrew would say so. Some time ago a culprit entered the otherwise peaceful farm-yard of Mr. Pettigrew under the cover of darkness and stole the rope off the dinner bell which hangs at the top of the long pole near the kitchen door. This was very embarrassing inasmuch as Mrs. Pettigrew was no longer able to ring the dinner bell and call her hungry spouse from the west 89. The intelligent blacksnake noticed the lady's embarrassment and, climbing the pole he took the bell handle in his mouth and allowed his body to hang straight down until his tail almost touched the ground. Mrs. Pettigrew grasped the pet snake by the tail and was thus able to ring the dinner bell. Every noon now the snake climbs the pole without being told. His idea of time is something very remarkable as he is never more than two minutes too early and never a minute late.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such foods should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

Snail Culture Profitable. French farmers find snail culture a profitable undertaking. As many as 500,000 "first quality" snails, the price of which throughout the year averages $1.70 a thousand, can be reared on an acre of land. They have to be fed only once a day, preferably in the evening, and through extremely voracious are by no means fastidious. After a fall of rain, which seems to sharpen their appetites, a bed of 100,000 will demolish a barrow load of cabbage in a very short space of time.

Chinese Children Like Paris. Recently a number of Chinese children have been found in the streets of Paris and taken before the magistrates as vagabonds. These children were brought to France by showmen to perform as acrobats. After a few months, their performances having lost their novelty and ceased to attract, the managers abandoned them. They have been taken to the Chinese legation to be sent home. But they don't want to go home. The beautiful city of Paris is more to their liking.

ISSUES INVITATION TO FRESHMEN CLASS

President Kuhlrow of Senior Class Asks Younger Classmen to Reception Saturday Night.

The freshmen class at the high school were given their invitation by President Benjamin Kuhlrow of the senior class to attend the annual reception given by the seniors each year, which will be held on Saturday evening, October 19th. His speech to the lowest class, as he gave it yesterday afternoon, is as follows:
"In past years it has been a custom for the senior class to honor the entire freshmen class at an annual reception. Each year the individual members of the seniors put forth their best efforts to excel the receptions of former years. By this affair we, the seniors, become acquainted with the younger students—the freshmen. No initiation by the sophomores should keep you away. You fellows get up your nerve, and bring your girl friends, as the success of this banquet depends on whether or not you are there. This reception will be held on Saturday evening at 7:30 sharp of this week, and I wish to see the entire freshmen class there in a body."

Forum Meeting.
The Forum Literary society enjoyed a meeting of the order last evening. Fifteen of the sixteen members which were left from last year were present, and a successful meeting was held. After the roll call, which was answered to by a short prophecy, the president gave out a list of names to be voted on, and the following students were elected into the Forum: Joe Brundage, Mark Jones, Lyle Beard, Huber Wesley, and Walter Williams. This brings the total membership to twenty. Several more will be taken in in the near future.

After the election, Prof. Buell, who acted as critic for the evening, gave out the three debate topics, asking the society to vote on their first, second and third choice: The World Peace question seemed to have the first choice.

A short program was the final procedure for the evening. The debate was won by Noyes and Siegle on the negative side, as opposed to Cummings and Schoof, who upheld the affirmative side. A spirited discussion was given. Stanley Judd gave an excellent talk on the recent races at Milwaukee, emphasizing the Grand Prix race, and the features of it. The meeting adjourned after the critic made his report.

FIND POCKETBOOK STOLEN OVER TWO MONTHS AGO.

Discovered in Toilet Reservoir in Van Houten & Dalton Saloon—Belongs to Shopier's Man.

While searching for the cause of an obstruction in the pipe leading from a toilet flushing tank in the Van Houten & Dalton saloon yesterday, Bert Van Houten found a water-soaked purse in which were several bills and notes belonging to Jerome Shimeal, of Shopier's. The purse was stolen from Mr. Shimeal on a train coming to this city over two months ago, and although he did not inform the police the other became known. The robber after taking out what was of value and readily transferable, evidently found the tank a convenient place to dispose of the purse and its contents.

ALL SLOT MACHINES HAVE BEEN REMOVED

Chief of Police Appleby and Patrolman Dorn Found None on Inspection Yesterday.

That those who have harbored the gambling slot machines on their premises believed the mayor and chief of police meant business when they ordered the machines taken out, is indicated by the result of the inspection made yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Appleby and Patrolman Dorn. Not one machine of the prescribed kind was found in the fifty-three saloons, and numerous drug stores, cigar stores, and billiard rooms visited; their owners or users had carefully spirited them away. All dice games have also been stopped. This inspection is not by any means final; the business places which have used the machines will be watched closely. The chief and his men are determined that the machines, once out, shall stay out, and that the violators of the order shall stand the consequences.

MATTER IS DECIDED WITH CITY COUNCIL

Attorney Nolan Says Interurban Company Has Understanding in Regard to Turning Cars.

Concerning the discussion by the Directors of the Commercial club yesterday, in relation to the turning of the cars at the intersection of Main and East Milwaukee streets by the Rockford & Interurban Railway Company, Thos. S. Nolan, the attorney for the company, stated to a representative of the Gazette today that several weeks ago the matter was discussed between Mayor Fathers, Councilman Millmore and Cummings and W. C. Sparks, General Manager of the railway.

Mr. Sparks assured the Mayor and Councilman that as soon as practicable a change would be made, and that until it was possible to make other arrangements, the employees of the company would use special care to avoid any accident or inconvenience to the people.

It is worthy of note that during the fourteen months since the turning of the cars at this point has been done no accident has happened, showing that the railway company has exercised due care. Special mention should be made also, of the work of Officer John Brown and the other policemen who have been stationed near the corners of East Milwaukee and Main street, in their care to avoid accidents. A canvass of the property owners in that vicinity shows that no complaint has been made by them; but different arrangements will be made about turning the cars, when possible, as the time lost and inconvenience to the railway company is considerable.

BOYS ANNOY THE MOTORMEN ON FRANKLIN STREET CARS

Jump On Rear Platform and Pull Trolley Poles From Wire—Police On Trail of Rowdies.

For some time past a number of boys who have lounged about the Winslow store have been annoying the motormen on the street cars that pass the corner of Jackson street and Western avenue by jumping on the rear platform and pulling the trolley from the wire, and also by throwing stones. Trouble of this kind was reported to the police last night and Chief of Police Appleby went down but found no boys in the vicinity. The employees have been helpless to defend themselves, as there is no conductor in the car when they pass this corner. The Chief of Police will keep watch for the offending boys and is determined to put a stop to their rowdy practices.

EDGERTON YOUTHS
CAUGHT BY CHIEF IN GAMBLING RAID

Part of Gang of Twenty-Five Appeared Before Justice and Pay Fines While Others Hasten To Leave City.

Edgerton, Oct. 15.—Sunday afternoon Chief of Police Dunn made the discovery of a crap gambling game going on in an open shed near one of the local lumber yards. First pursuing nearly all the names of the chief raided the camp and the gamblers dispersed to all directions. Yesterday afternoon one by one as fast as they could be found were brought before the bar of justice, each paying a fine of $5 and costs, or a total of $8.

Not only were young men of age implicated in the game, but also school boys. This work has been going on for some time and with the present raid it is thought the work will come to a stop.

It is not that all of the instigator will be fined, as some who feared the danger left town Sunday evening and Monday morning, some departing for points in the west and others for points in the east. In case all can be apprehended the number will be about twenty-five.

Birthday Surprise.
Miss Lulu Rousch was tendered a pleasant surprise last evening at the family home on Broadway on the occasion of her twenty-second birthday. Friends and relatives of eighteen participated in the event and enjoyed a pleasant evening in games and music. A dainty three course supper was served.

Tendered Reception.
At the M. E. church parlors last evening the members and friends of the congregation tendered a most pleasant surprise to the new pastor, Rev. T. W. North and family which proved a most joyous event to the large number present. Ice cream, cake and other refreshments were served.

Edgerton News Notes.
Mrs. Ole Jensen and daughter, Miss Louise, were Janesville visitors yesterday.

George Lyntz chartered a touring car Sunday and with Mrs. Lyntz, son and two daughters, enjoyed an auto trip to Watertown. Returning they passed through other points of interest in Jefferson and Walworth counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tounton of Peru, Ill., spent the day yesterday in this city with friends.

Eugene Breitenbach and friend of Milwaukee were the guests of John Sherman and family of Fulton township over Sunday.

H. B. Knapp was brought home yesterday from the Janesville hospital by auto and stood the trip very well. Miss Ruth Watson, trained nurse of Chicago and sister-in-law of Mr. Knapp, is here caring for him. It is thought Mr. Knapp will be able to get by the last of the week.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Editor of the Gazette,
Dear Sir:—Permit me through the columns of your paper to say a few words in regard to the recent mass meeting held at the City Hall in reading the article in the Gazette written on this meeting. I notice that Mr. Charles Pierce speaks of the ability of the late J. W. Hogan as an officer, which is undisputed in this city as well as a great many others, but how was this done? When he found law-breakers prowling around and drove them away, did he have to make a statement in the papers just how he did it, as did our turnkey a few days since. Did he take a five cent bamboo fishpole and scare them with it? I should say not. He took a hickory cane that would bother the ordinary man to carry around and I can assure you that the party that came in contact with the other end of it would not be able to prevail around his own house for several days. Am I not right Mr. Pierce?

Did you ever see John Hogan with his clothes torn and his face and hands scratched trying to arrest a desperate character, as were our officers a few weeks ago? I guess not, especially when he knew the character or he was about to handle.

I happened to be in the Myers Hotel some years ago when an old offender was being a disturbance that he could while any man in the city, but the minute that Mr. Hogan got to where that famous cane would reach that fighter's head, the uproar was ended. There was but one well directed blow from that cane and the bad man was carried to the old county jail in a wagon that happened to be passing.

If one of our present officers is forced to use a club to defend himself in pursuing his duties today, he is set upon by half a dozen of the so-called law abiding citizens, and the chances are that he will be summoned to appear before the Police Board.

Am I not right again. Has our present capable Chief of Police ever been upheld in his duties?

I recall once when he watched and arrested a certain saloon keeper for keeping open on Sunday, with what result? When the saloon keeper had his hearing he plead "not guilty" and was let go free. He swore that these ten or eleven men that were in his place, mind you, caught right in the act of buying drinks and drinking them by Mr. Appleby himself, were carpenters and painters who were doing some repairing and redecorating in the saloon.

Was this right? Are such proceedings fair and upholding to the chief and his men? What a snarl has it made to make arrests of law-breakers, crooks, and thieves, when they themselves are made out as false-fiers and perjurers by the offenders, when they are brought into court?

In speaking on the saloon question, I say, let them run, but keep within the bounds of the law or lose their license on the first offense. What difference does a $10 or even a $25 dollar fine make to a saloon keeper, when any Sunday he takes in from $40 to $50.

In the state of Iowa there is one saloon license granted to every 4,000 inhabitants. There are no back or side doors, no back rooms, or storerooms of any kind. All of the goods on hand must be kept in the one store, no screens, chairs or tables, no dice or cards, and no woman or minor is allowed inside the door. A boy cannot even sell a paper.

The closing hour is ten o'clock, but all customers must leave at 9:45. This leaves fifteen minutes for the one in charge to make preparations for the night.

The law says that there shall be a bright light left burning all night and that no one shall enter a saloon on any pretext whatsoever between the closing and opening hours.

If a saloon man breaks these laws he loses his license and cannot be in any way connected with the sale of liquor for a period of five years, under penalty of one year in state's prison.

This does away with the practice of the saloon keeper turning his license over to his bar-tender and running his business just the same, as has been done in our city. These are rather stringent laws, but whose fault are they?

In regard to allowing small boys to play pool, billiards, shake dice and play slot machines in the pool halls, I haven't the first doubt in my mind but what the two unfortunate boys, now being held for murder, started their wayward habits by being allowed to frequent these places.

I think that Dr. Beaton takes the right stand, when he says: "Let us resolve to stand behind these men in the performance of their duties, etc."

If every jury that is drawn on one of these cases would bear this in mind and uphold Mr. Appleby and his men in the performance of their duties instead of making "monkeys" out of them, so as to speak, I dare say that the desired result will be forthcoming at once. Signed Plain Facts.

EDWARD FORD.
The death of Edward Ford on September 23 removed one of the prominent residents of the town of Porter. Coming from Ireland in 1838, when a small boy, he lived with his parents near Milwaukee. When a young man he came to the town of Porter and has lived there since, in all over fifty years. He was highly respected by all who knew him. His death followed an illness of seven weeks with paralysis.

ADMITTS VIOLATION OF PURE FOOD LAW

Dion Condos Pleads Guilty To Having Artificially Colored Cherries In His Possession.

Dion Condos, proprietor of a confectionery store in this city, this morning entered through his attorney, Fred C. Burpee, a plea of guilty to the charge that he had in his possession and in his place of business for sale, cherries which were artificially colored with carmine in violation of the state pure food law. Attorney Burpee asked that the judge impose the lightest sentence possible as his client was ignorant of the character of the preserved cherries sold him, and had not actually sold any of them. He wasn't a chemist and took the statement of the State Inspector W. T. Scott, that the cherries fruit had been purchased from a Rockford jobbing house and an attempt had been made to have them stand good for the fine of Condos, but they in turn had bought the cherries from an eastern firm and wanted to be assured of proper compensation from them. Judge Fifield imposed a fine of $25 and costs taxed at $2.90.

SUFFRAGE QUESTION SUBJECT OF DEBATE

no but they bear armies." Neither are all men physically able to bear arms, but such a condition does not disenfranchise them.

Ministers and editors are practically unanimous in their decision that equal suffrage has not made women less good wives or mothers but has rendered them more intelligent companions for their husbands and better able to instruct their children. All agree that it has broadened women's and led them to take a historic method of interest in public affairs. Their presence in politics also makes it much harder to elect a corrupt or morally undesirable candidate.

Let us hark back to the Colonial days when was heard the cry, "Taxation Without Representation." In many cases women are large property holders and without a vote she has not protection for the same.

Out of woman's allowance which has not increased comes the increased profits of the beef trust and even other home-affecting trusts. Without doubt, her slogan will be, "Down with the trusts."

It has been said that woman's vote would not effect the result as nearly every woman would vote with her husband. Perhaps the tables might be turned. In that case what a wonderfully perfect world this would be. In America the majority of girls receive a better education than boys read more when out of school and finally join some highly intellectual club such as the Philomathean and it is only to claim that women will not be so qualified to decide or understand a political question.

"What is the reason for the lack of money in the schools? Money can be found for purposes in which voters are interested. Hence, the answer: 'Not enough interested voters.'" In New York City there are 80,000 more children of school age than there are school seats. What would women's votes about?

Wyoming has had full suffrage since 1890 and yet has the smallest proportion of unmarried women of state in the Union. Men say: "Why woman knows nothing about politics. Why should she with no experience." Neither can a man cook, but he would certainly be offended at an intimation of his inability to perform himself in the kitchen. Experience make a man interesting. Would the effect upon woman differ?

Mrs. T. O. Howe, who explicated that because she was treating the negative side of the question it was no reason that she was in sympathy with that side, read the following paper:

One fact concerning the woman suffrage movement is plain to every one who has watched that movement, this is the superficial and inadequate manner in which the matter has been discussed in general. The suffragists in their speeches and published articles show that while they propose a stupendous governmental change, they have little knowledge of the fundamentals of government, the evolution of representation, the history of politics, or the meaning of suffrage. In their treatment of the subject they hopelessly confuse political, philanthropic, socialistic and economic questions, and do not seem to be able to discriminate between objects of national and those of state regulation. Many women who suddenly declare themselves suffragists in a very few months and without giving study to the science of government, advanced to ranks of a leader. Some of the leaders have never studied the constitution of the U. S., and show this fact and lack of knowledge concerning the American government in their speeches and writings. Few suffragists perhaps could explain offhand why the House of Representatives has a committee on foreign affairs, and the Senate has a committee on foreign relations. The ordinary voter may not understand these things, but suffragists proposing great fundamental change in government ought to understand such points which are among the alphabet of representative government. To attempt enormous governmental changes without knowing this alphabet is like trying to work out a problem in calculus, without mastering the simple and fundamental rules of arithmetic. One of the strangest features of the suffrage movement is that suffrage is treated throughout, not as a means but as an end. In speeches and writings no mention is made of what women would do if they had a vote, beyond certain philanthropic movements and municipal ordinances supposed to be for the betterment of women and children. No woman suffragist has given any hint of knowing that our banking and currency system needs reforming, of a good domestic parcels post law, of methods of national defense, and many other problems which the newspapers are full of and which the minds of the thinking men are concerned today. It is doubtful whether one woman in the whole suffrage body could be found who has an intelligent view of these subjects which is clamoring to vote on.

The objectors to woman suffrage have only recently begun to formulate their views, and with the exception of a few suffrage experts, little has been done to acquaint the public with the anti-suffrage side. The only two really comprehensive books on the anti-suffrage side have been books for the library and for legislators rather than for the general public. One reason for this is that the anti-suffragists are in the enormous majority. William Dean Howells has said that he has heard many appeals against woman suffrage but he has never heard any reason against it, yet there are compelling reasons against it. These reasons are not in the smallest degree based upon the assumption that women are not equal to men, but merely that men and women are not identical. The suffragists have assumed that the revolution would be over when a woman can walk up to the polling station and deposit her vote in the ballot box. It is at this point, however, that revolution would begin. It is true that limited suffrage prevails in twenty-three states, and full suffrage in six, California, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Washington, and still there is no general revolution. It must be remembered however, that in the states where there is limited suffrage women have shown a general indifference to exercising suffrage, while the experiments in the six newer and sparsely settled states in which there is full suffrage, afford no adequate test for full suffrage in great centers of civilization and in vast and crowded communities with immense and diversified interests. Wyoming is a state of cowboys and cattle ranchers. Idaho is dominated by the Mormons who have ever been the good friend of woman suffrage, and the most powerful advocates it has ever had. In Utah, the women voters under the lead of Mormonism, have voted steadily in favor of polygamists and law-breakers, who have been sent to Congress in defiance of the law by the votes of women. In the state of Washington the experiment has been too recent to afford any data. It may be noted, however, that the same phenomenon was repeated in Washington as in Colorado. When woman suffrage was adopted in California, in 1893, the state had the highest divorce rate of any state or territory in the Union. When Washington, adopted the woman suffrage in 1910, that state led every state and territory in the Union in divorce. In Colorado, the most civilized of all the suffrage states, the suffrage experiment has not been entirely successful. During the last 14 years California, South Dakota, and Oregon have defeated suffrage amendments to their constitutions. Only recently California succumbed. It may be that the company kept by the suffragists is not pleasing to the legislators. All suffragists fortunately are not Mormons, but all Mormons are suffragists. Neither are all suffragists Socialists, but with few exceptions all Socialists are suffragists. That suffrage tends, strongly toward socialism and that the relations between the socialists and suffragists are close, has been very clearly shown for many years past by the woman's journal, the official organ of woman's suffrage. In New Zealand where women have full suffrage and where they exercise it to the same extent as men, the woman's vote being almost equal to that of the men, the government is embodied in socialism. New Zealand is one of the most corrupt electorates in the world, nor does it appear to be a model in other respects, according to the official report of Paul, Minister of Justice on prison reform. He says that a large proportion of native born population is yearly going to prison.

It would be interesting to know the number of socialists among the suffragists in the United States. It will be remembered, however, that woman's suffrage has not as yet had anywhere in the world an actual test. It has not so far met the shock of foreign war, or civil strife, or revolution. Until a nation with woman suffrage has passed through some immense and prolonged convulsion it cannot claim to have had any real test. The two basic reasons against woman suffrage in the United States are as follows:

First, no electorate has ever existed or ever can exist which cannot execute its own laws. Second, no voter has ever claimed or can claim maintenance from another voter concerning the first of these under the government of the United States. The normal voter must have two qualifications. He must be physically able to make his own way to the polls against opposition if necessary, and he must be able to carry out by force the effect of his ballot. The law consists of a series of Thou Shalt Nots, but the government does not result until an armed man stands ready to execute the law. The suffragists claim that moral forces ought to supplant physical force, but the law is made for law-breakers who use physical force, and a woman does not rely on any moral force to drive a burglar out of her home, but calls on the nearest policeman to use physical force to sustain the law. Education is desirable but not essential. The possession of education and intelligence does not enable women to force their way to the polls if opposed, or to execute laws created under woman's suffrage. The spectacle of one-half the electorate unable to execute a single law it has made or even to deposit its ballots without the assistance of the other half is a proposition so fantastic that it is difficult to attack it seriously. Suppose, however, the ballots of women should be deposited by the indulgence of men, women would surely be called upon to legislate upon subjects of which no woman has ever had any experience. No woman can have any practical knowledge of shipping and navigation, of work of trainmen on railways, of mining, or of many other subjects. The second basic principle against woman's suffrage is that no voter can claim maintenance from another voter. All voters must stand on the same level. This condition is not true or possible, in most cases, as women receive their maintenance from their husbands.

In considering woman suffrage in the United States as compared with suffrage in other countries, it must be forgotten that women occupy a far more favored condition than those in any country in the world. But here appears a singular vital and stupendous fact that in no country is woman suffrage so utterly impossible as under the American system of government. There are five principles of woman suffrage, which are in direct opposition with five principles of the government of the United States. It means if suffrage should exist it would be necessary to change the present form of government. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that voting is not a moral right but a privilege. It would be necessary to change the Constitution of the United States, in order to override the Supreme Court. Second, women voters would become a privileged class, and in the present form of government there are no privileged classes among voters. Third the United States could not live under an electorate of which less than half of its members could enforce its laws. Fourth, the government of the United States is based upon the rule of the majority and not on the consent of the governed, and the suffragists by their own showing have been less than three percent of the women of the country on their side. Fifth, the tendency of woman suffrage is inevitable toward socialism; the state does everything possible for the individual. The Republican theory of government is that the state shall only do what is absolutely necessary for the individual, and the individual must do everything for the state. These five principles are a few of the important arguments against woman suffrage.

HE FIRED THE FIRST SHOT IN BALKAN WAR

Prince Peter.

There's something old fashioned in those Montenegrins. They seem to think that royalty should take an active part in the country's wars. It was Prince Peter, the youngest son of King Nicholas of Montenegro, who fired the first shot in the war against Turkey. His father is leading the Montenegrin forces in person. This is the first time a European monarch has led his armies in the field in over a century and a half.

Protecting His Stock.

An Italian who kept a fruit stand was much annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it softened and often spoiled. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign, which read: "If you mus pincha da fruit—pincha da cocconut!"—Lippincott's.

Drains.

If cellars or drains under the house are in bad order the heat of the rooms above draws the impure air upward. The air of the whole house is thus affected by the foul air ascending. This is one reason why disease is often prevalent at the beginning of the cold season.

Stimulus of Sex Rivalry.

In her free competition with the other sex woman will occupy the place in life for which she is best fitted. By taking this position she will help to elevate man, the wife the husband, because the best way to bring about the survival of the fittest men is to promote rivalry between the two sexes in the struggle for existence.—Rome Tribune.

Why "Deaf as an Adder."

"Deaf as an adder," taken from the "deaf adder that stoppeth her ears" in the Psalms, is founded on an oriental superstition that a serpent presses one ear to the ground while covering the other with its tail—an acrobatic feat that might stump even the wisdom of a serpent, since a snake has no external ear.

Mother! Watch The Children's Bowels

IF CROSS, STICK, FEVERISH, BILIOUS OR TONGUE IS COATED GIVE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative physic should always be the first treatment given.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are filled with foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggists for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, genuine, reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

ANNIVERSARY 1907 PANIC OBSERVED BY WALL STREET.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 15.—In Wall Street today the fact was recalled that this marked the fifth anniversary of the most serious money panic in the experience of the country. Almost unheralded came the financial scare of Oct. 15, 1907, that made the year a black-letter one in the memory of many American citizens. The panic was marked by the most stupendous issue of unauthorized currency in the history of modern nations. In nearly every large city bank payments were partly suspended, as they were in a vast number of smaller places. Throughout the country a total exceeding $500,000,000 of panic money was issued.

Judge and "Barmaid's Blush."

Judicial ignorance is generally assumed, but there are occasions when a judge is honestly lacking in knowledge. The other day a witness in an Australian court casually mentioned that a certain thing occurred just after he had a "barmaid's blush." Judge and counsel were for the moment "stuck up" by this hitherto unheard of phrase, but the fact was gradually elicited that it meant a drink of compounded beer and raspberry vinegar. —London Chronicle.

Trumpetings of Despair.

We have our days of extreme mental depression, when we take such a comprehensively gloomy view of the general situation that it seems as if the man in the same paw with us came to church for the sole purpose of blowing his nose. —Ohio State Journal.

Coy Young Thing.

The following advertisement recently appeared: "Being aware that it is indicative to advertise for a husband, I refrain from doing so; but if any gentleman should be inclined to advertise for a wife, I will answer the advertisement without delay. I am young, am domesticated, and considered ladylike. Apply," etc.

If the truth is to be told, I suppose we all have a sneaking sympathy for the rogue. The black sheep of the family is always first favorite with his mother and his aunts; the heroes of Smiles' "Self-Help" will never be half so popular as Robin Hood or Rob Roy.—From the Reader.

Centers of low atmospheric pressure occupy the St. Lawrence valley, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Canadian Northwest. There have been rains on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. The center of the disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico seems to be in the vicinity of Galveston as high winds, heavy swell from the southeast, and tide above normal are reported there.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

THERE are several kinds of heritages. Some people inherit money. Other people, whose ancestors have not bequeathed them any great amount of money, still take vast pride in valuable heirlooms, such as old furniture or quaint jewelry. Yet others who have received neither money nor heirlooms, consider some well-known name as a desirable heritage.

I want to tell you today of a heritage somewhat different from any of these, which I chanced to hear about the other day.

The shampoo lady told us of it. We were talking about inventions and patents, and a dentist who is trying to patent an idea which he has conceived and prevent anyone from using that idea without paying him royalty.

Said the shampoo lady, "That's not much like my grandfather."

Said we, "Was your grandfather an inventor?"

"Well, he certainly was," said the shampoo lady. "He invented the iron hub that you see on all the wheels. You know it is used all over the world now, but in the old times there were only wooden hubs and it was my grandfather who invented the iron hub."

"And didn't he patent it?" we asked.

"Indeed he did," said the shampoo lady. "Do you think I'd be doing heads if he had? Why all his grandchildren would be millionaires if he had patented that hub. But he wouldn't. Everyone thought it was a great idea and advised him to get a patent, and what do you suppose he said? 'Why should I patent it? It doesn't seem anything very great to me, BUT IF IT'S GOOD, I WANT THE PEOPLE TO USE IT.'"

The shampoo lady paused to reach for a towel. "Of course," she went on, "there are times when I can see that it would be fine to be a millionaire. I don't mind working a bit, but when I heard about that little Bryce girl who has such a lovely voice and can't afford to have it trained, just because she has to support a father who drinks, I would have liked some of that hub money. And when I read about foreign places, especially Venice and the Alps, and realize that I'll probably die without ever seeing them, I do wish I had money enough to travel some. But most of the time I really and truly am just as contented with that speech and spirit of my grandfather as I am with a heritage as big as his."

Can anyone doubt that that woman, healthy and strong as she is, happy in her work, contented with her means, appreciative of all the intellectual opportunities, and delighted with all the simple pleasures that come her way, and inspired and enriched by that splendid speech and the spirit behind it, is far happier and more blessed than some of those in this land who inherit plenty of ill-gotten wealth, but little else from their ancestors?

I cannot.

There are many kinds of heritages. Not everyone can leave wealth, or beautiful heirlooms, or a well-known name to the succeeding generation, but everyone can leave such precious heritages as health, the right attitude towards life, and the inspiration of a fine life and a fine spirit.

The KITCHEN CABINET

IT SEEMS so far away; And we are busy here and there.

We dream of some time when These hindering tasks shall all be done; And then, Oh then!

Ah, dreamer, while you wait, The days and years are slipping by, What if too late?

COMPANY DISHES.

A pretty way of serving a salad and cheese course and one not common is this:

Slice nice red tomatoes in even slices, then place on each a thin slice of American cheese, spread with mayonnaise, and cover with another slice of tomato. Add a heaping spoonful of mayonnaise and place half a stuffed olive on this as a garnish. Serve with lettuce and water crackers.

Pineapple Dessert.—Put a layer of buttered bread crumbs in a baking dish, then cover with a layer of finely cut pineapple; add sugar to taste, cover with crumbs and repeat until the dish is full, having the crumbs on top. Bake until well heated through. Serve with or without cream. Bits of butter added to the dish improves it.

Clam Cocktail.—Mix together a tablespoonful each of vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, and fresh grated horseradish, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, half a teaspoonful of salt, a few drops of tabasco and two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup. Chill this sauce until very cold, then add a dozen clams and serve in glasses.

Tea Frappe.—Boil together two cups of water and a cup of sugar for five minutes. Add a pint of fresh, fairly strong tea that has been cooled, the grated rind and juice of three oranges, the juice of two lemons and a can of grated pineapple. Freeze to a mush, garnish with lemon slices and crushed mint.

A cupful of peach pulp put through a sieve and added to a small freezer of ice cream makes an elegant company dessert.

There is a recipe for mustard pickles.

Take one cup each of mustard, sugar and salt; stir into one gal. vinegar. Pack 2 gal. clean pickles in mixture. Will keep crisp and tasty.

As to the balance of your letter—A married woman who continually speaks of her conquests before marriage, is neither wise nor kind; especially if she has a good husband. Her family will learn to despise her in time.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a girl one month older than I until recently she turned me down because she said she thought she was too old for me. Is she right?

She probably is tired of you, and uses this as the best excuse she can think of. Better get another girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) There is a new young man in town and I would like to make his acquaintance. Is it proper to wink at him or shall I telephone him first? (2) Is it proper to flirt? (3) Is it true that hoop skirts are coming in again? (4) Is it nice to send picture postcards to strange men? (5) I am 15. Am I too young to have steady company? (6) How long should I wear my skirts? (7) Am I old enough to wear my hair in a Psyche? (8) Am I old enough to go to public dances? (9) I have been going with a fellow two months and I don't like him any more. How can I quit him? (10) Should I let a boy kiss me the first time he went with me? BABE.

(1) Do you mean this or are you joking? I can't understand how any nice girl will think of winking at a strange man, or of telephoning to him in order to make his acquaintance. (2) Sometimes a little flirting, in fun, doesn't do any harm, when both understand that it is flirting and means nothing serious. But the girl generally gets the worst of it in such a game. (3) No. (4) No. (5) Yes. (6) About an inch above your ankles. (7) No. (8) Yes, unless some older person is with you, to decide with whom you may dance. (9) Tell him you have learned that you are not old enough to have steady company and you mean to wait until you are 15 and then go only with the man you expect to marry. (10) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can I regain the love of my brother? I am a girl of 18 and, with my mother and father, have lived with him. A short time ago I met a young man and went out three or four times a week but my friend always stayed until one and two o'clock outside. To this my brother objected. I would not listen to him, so he put us all out of his house. He is all I have and I cannot tell you how much I think of him, for he has always been so good to me. But now he does not speak to me. How can I make up with him? AMANDA A.

Your brother was right in not wishing you to stay out so late; but he was a little harsh in turning all of you out of his house. Can you not go to your brother and tell him how sorry you are and ask him to take you all back? However, if you and your parents can get long without him, why not try to be independent? Maybe he is tired of taking care of all of you.

SHOWS SIGNIFICANCE OF DIET TO HEALTH

W. EARL FLYNN TELLS LARGE AUDIENCE THAT SELF-DENIAL MUST BE PRACTICED.

BATHING IS IMPORTANT

Expounds Virtues of Vegetarianism—Brands Ordinary Diet As Highly Unscientific.

"Before I leave your city I am going to show you how to save from $120 to $200 a year on your food," said W. Earl Flynn, the health evangelist, who last night addressed a large audience at the Cargill Methodist church on "How to Get Well and Stay Well."

"If it is true, as the very best authorities in the scientific world, on the subject of diet inform us, that we are eating nearly three-quarters too much food for our own health, happiness, and pocketbook, that means that a family of five can easily save by proper selection and knowledge, $120 as a minimum per year. Think of Christian people, good church people, wasting all this money. In two or three months' time you could afford to double your pastor's salary and buy him an automobile."

Meat eating was attacked by Mr. Flynn as the source and aggravator of many of the ills to which flesh is not heir, but acquires. He maintained and produced records to prove that the world's records for physical endurance were held by vegetarians. Endurance, he said, is what counts. The meat eater may equal and surpass the vegetarian in short tests of strength, but he does not have the staying powers.

"When I come to my food lecture I am going to show you that there is a great laboratory in the plant world, and I am going to show you that you can hardly eat meat and be decent." That improper diet is directly accountable for bad temper, roughness, and even crime, is one of the points which Mr. Flynn takes care to emphasize.

"Anger and worry are no more necessary than other passions civilized man has learned to control, and it is only necessary to realize that they are the false conditions of a true mind, in order to make it impossible to feel, much less to know them. Anger and worry can not be eliminated through process of repression any more than a weed can be killed by cutting down the stock. Germ eradication is not the easiest, but the only sure cure of physical diseases and mental handicaps. To indulge in temper is a crime, it is like the venom of snakes—it turns the pure blood to deadly poison. It even changes the shape of the red blood corpuscles.

"Two meals a day are sufficient for all kinds of work, physical as well as mental," said Mr. Flynn. "Brain workers and laboring men should not have the same kind of diet; the food must be scientifically selected, as well as the right combinations and thoroughly masticated. In the 235,000 members of my classes, 96 per cent have reported that the omitting of breakfast has been of great advantage to them, but each person must be a law unto himself."

The speaker renewed his attacks on tea and coffee, made in previous lectures. He declared that they were neither food nor drink, but irritants and poisons. He again extolled the virtues of buttermilk and said that it was productive of longevity. Potatoes, he said, were an excellent food but should be boiled or baked with their "jackets" on, otherwise their food value would be greatly diminished.

"You should bathe at least six times a day," was one of the startling instructions given by the speaker. He at once qualified that statement by saying that he did not mean water baths; he would explain what kinds of baths he meant in a later lecture. It would not take more than ten minutes a day to take them all.

"If you haven't anything else in your house have a bath-tub. Sell your rugs and furniture rather than go without one."

"I want you to say to yourselves: I have not bathed enough. I have eaten too much, more than I can assimilate; I have not taken care of my eyes and ears; I have lived on what father and mother gave me, and I am almost bankrupt. Now I am going to begin and build up for that day when my body will cease to build rapidly enough, and then I shall have a surplus of energy to fall back upon."

W. Earl Flynn must be seen to be heard. He does not convey his ideas solely by word of mouth; he uses postures of an illustrative character, performs various kinds of corrective exercise in full view of his audience, and fairly brims over with good health and spirits. The audience that heard him last evening was no less amused than instructed. Nevertheless his lightness is not levity; he is unquestionably serious and sincere and his thoughts are so framed and expressed that they leave their impression on the dullest mind.

Mr. Flynn speaks this evening at the Cargill Methodist church on the subject of "Food and Food Values." The lecture begins at eight o'clock.

One of the Afton correspondents has received the following communication from W. J. Miller of Crookston, Minn., which he would like published in the Gazette. "Whoever stated that he had written that his crops were under snow and water and that the streams were frozen over, must have had the nightmare and kicked the clothes off some cool night. The facts are that we had no frost until the night of September 25. On the night of the 26th it snowed, but it all disappeared the next day. The thermometer has been hovering around eighty degrees during the day, most of the time during October. We had a very wet fall, which made the work of threshing the shocked grain slow. The crops are all good. Corn is rather late and got frosted, but will make good feed. The correspondent would like to add in answer to his letter, that the items which he sent in were written in good faith, the statement of the weather conditions at Crookston having been handed to a Beloit paper, which also published it in good faith, from which source the Afton correspondent got her information.

Rheumatics Flock to Freeport

Wonderful Sanport Mud Baths Attract Wide Attention. Sensational Cures of Chronic Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis and Kindred Complaints.

They are giving mud baths at the National Sanatorium and Springs at Freeport, Illinois, that are declared to cure the famous radio active mud baths of Hungary.

Crippled rheumatics find the mud very useful; many are cured with astonishing rapidity. Gout, lumbago, sciatica, neuritis and every complaint akin to uric acid disappear in a manner bordering upon the sensational. The sanatorium is equipped with every modern convenience and appliances and their mineral spring water is, by far, one of the greatest health agencies ever discovered.

It will pay any one to make a trip to Freeport. These mud baths will be a revelation to those who are crippled with rheumatism. For a more detailed description of the baths, the wonderful Sanport water and what the mud does for you, draw a line to the Medical Director, The National Sanatorium and Springs, Freeport, Ill.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 15, 1872.—Today, we have a well founded report that the two railroads, that pass through this city are to unite in the erection of a union passenger depot to be erected on the grounds purchased for that purpose several years ago near the freight house of the W. S. T. Ry. The building is to be of brick of ample dimensions convenient to access. This is the report 1872.—Today we have a well founded report that there can be little doubt of the correctness.

OCTOBER 15

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

You will win; but do not be impatient. Foolish obstinacy only makes trouble. Consider well what you write or say. You are about to receive some favor or advancement and pleasant associations will be made possible for you.

Those born today will have decided personalities and a tendency to make large plans, rather than to follow ordinary pursuits. They will have high courage, and when they learn to balance this with reason they will succeed brilliantly.

BY WALT MASON

The road that leads to Sleepytown is causing much complaining, and folks who travel up and down forget their moral training. For when the weather's wet that road is like the swamp named Dismal, and horses, with their wagonload, sink in the depths abyssal. And motorists who go that way are thrown into a panic.

their autos sink in liquid clay to beat the lost Titanic. And when the weather's dry those tracks are ridged and rough and rutty, and travelers have broken backs or else are driven nutty. And in the streets of Sleepytown the citizens foregather, and say: "There's something GOOD AND BAD ROADS keeps us down; and

Why is our burg thus standing still, no prizes ever landing? The rival village, Rustleville, is growing and expanding! The roads that lead to Rustleville are excellent, inviting; and over valley, bridge and hill the travelers go skidding, no broken axles or tire brings forth a burst of swearing; no horses founder in the mire or swim for shore despairing. And so to Rustleville they go, the crowds, with cheerful chatter; at Sleepytown, immersed in woe, they wonder, what's the matter!

Cause of Leprosy Ascertained.
The long discussion over the bacillus of leprosy (it has been going on ever since Hansen claimed discovery of the specific germ forty years ago) appears to be ended. Work during the last year or two at the leper colonies of Guam and Hawaii seems to have proved that the lepra bacillus is the real cause of the disease.

Barred From Popularity.
"We want a man for leader, who knows all about the tariff, the currency and the methods of railways and corporations." "No, we don't," replied the practical campaigner. "A man who learned all that would never have time to go around shaking hands or relating humorous anecdotes."

Mr. Butler H. Bates, 72 D. 12th St., Fond du Lac relates: "Kidney trouble bothered me for a long time. I had also a severe pain across my back and other irregularities when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills. I got them and began taking them with the result that the pain left me and the action of my kidneys became normal and after taking four bottles, I am better than I have been for years." Carrier Pigeons Can Travel Far.
A recent experiment has proven that carrier pigeons may be trusted to convey messages from ships several hundred miles at sea.

Martin Hanson, 605 S. 3rd St., La Crosse, writes: "For a couple of years I had kidney trouble. There was a painful pressure of the bladder also, and great irregularity. I heard of Foley Kidney Pills and took them. In a short time the pain passed away and the action became more regular and normal, and I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Badger Drug Co.

Something New In Game Laws. A proposed new game law in New York state will make the open season for deer-hunting later in the year, with the purpose, in part, of preventing the accidental shooting of human beings. It is thought that when the trees are denuded of leaves the man affected with "buck fever" will be less likely to shoot his guide or companion.

Adding to His Offensiveness. The man who told us is always doubly offensive if he comes around after the arrival of our troubles, and tries to look as if he had forgotten all about it.

The Chronicles of Addington Peace

By B. FLETCHER ROBINSON
Author with A. Conan Doyle of 'The Hound of the Baskervilles'

"It was about three o'clock," she said. "Mr. Boyne came into the room where I was. He told me that my uncle had spoken very bitterly to him in their interview, and that there had been a quarrel between them; but Mr. Boyne's sorrow was sincere. I am sure it was sincere. Afterwards he begged me not to believe any rumors I might hear about him. Then he went away. Afterwards, as I was looking from the window, I saw him walking down the drive with a policeman. Several of the servants were gathered at the front door watching and pointing. I don't know how—but the suspicion came to me—perhaps it was through what Cullen had said. I ran down the stairs and ordered them to answer. At last they told me—he had been arrested—for the murder."

We waited for a while, and then the little inspector rose, and in his courteous manner, offered her his arm. She took it, looking at him through her tears.

"He is innocent, Mr. Peace," she said.

"I trust so, Miss Sherrick," he said. "They moved off up the walk, I following behind them. We emerged from the shrubbery on to a broad lawn. The house, a sprawling old mansion of red brick, was before us. We crossed the grass, and, turning an angle of the house, came to the porch, from which a drive curled away amongst the foliage of an avenue of elms."

The central hall was better fitted for a museum than a habitation of comfort-loving folk. Bronze gods and goddesses glimmered in the corners, dragons carved in teak glared upon the eastern arms and armor that lined the walls, the duller hues of ivory and jade contrasted with the brilliant turquoise of old Pekin vases. It was here, among these spoils of the east, that Miss Sherrick left us, walking up the stairs to her room, as fair a figure of beauty in distress as a man might see.

As she disappeared, a tall, thin fellow in plain clothes stepped out of a door on our right and saluted the inspector.

"Good afternoon, Sergeant Hales," said Addington Peace. "So you have arrested Boyne?"

"Yes, sir."

"Upon good grounds?"

"The evidence is almost complete against him."

"Indeed. I shall be pleased to hear of it."

"Well, sir, it stands like this. Mr. Boyne called upon Colonel Bulstrode about one o'clock. He was shown into the library and—"

"One moment," interrupted the inspector. "Where is the library?"

"That is the door, sir," answered Hales, pointing to the room from which he had emerged.

"Perhaps it would be easier to understand if we go there?"

The library was a long, low room, lined with shelves that were in a great part empty. It projected from the main building—evidently it was of more recent construction—and thus could be lighted by windows on both sides. To our right were two which commanded the drive; to the left two more looked out upon a plot of grass dotted with flower beds, upon which several windows at the side of the house, at right angles to the library, also faced.

"Pray continue," said Inspector Peace.

"About ten minutes later, Cullen, the butler, heard high words passing. A regular fighting quarrel it sounded—or so he says."

"How could he hear? Was he listening in the hall?"

"No, sir; he was in his pantry, cleaning silver. The pantry is the first of those windows at the side of the house. The library windows being open, he could hear the sound of loud voices, though, as he says, he could not distinguish the words."

The inspector walked to an open lattice and thrust out his head. He closed it before he came back to us, as he did to the second window on the same side.

"Mr. Cullen must not be encouraged," he said gently. "He is there now, listening with pardonable curiosity. Well, Sergeant?"

"Presently there came a tremendous peal at his bell, and he hurried to answer it. When he reached the hall, he found the colonel and Mr. Boyne standing together. 'You understand me, Boyne,' the colonel was saying. 'If I catch you lurking about here again after my niece's money-bags, I'll thrash you within an inch of your life. I will, by thunder!'"

The young man gave the colonel an ugly look, but he had seen the butler, who was standing behind his master, and kept silent. "Show this fellow out, Cullen," said the colonel. "And if he ever calls slam the door in his face."

With that he stamped back into the library, swearing to himself in a manner that the butler declared, gave him the creeps, it was so very imaginative.

With one thing and another, Cullen was so dumfounded—for he thought that Boyne and Miss Sherrick were as good as engaged already—that he stood in the shadow of the porch watching the young gentleman. Boyne walked down the drive for a hundred yards or so, looked back at the house, and, not seeing the butler, as he supposed, turned off to the left along a path that led towards the fruit gardens. Cullen did not know what to make of it. However, it was none of his business, and at last he went back to his pantry. Sticking out his head, he could see the colonel writing at that desk—the sergeant pointed a finger at a knee-hole table littered with papers that was set in the further of the windows, looking out upon the grass plot—and so concluded that he could not have seen Boyne leave the drive, having had his back to it at the time.

"About twenty minutes later Cullen and Mary Thomas, the parlor maid, were in the dining room, getting the table ready for lunch. This room looks out upon the lawn at the front of the house. All of a sudden they heard a shout, and the next moment the colonel rushed by and made across the lawn to the Wilderness gate. He had a revolver in his hand, and was loading it as he ran. He dropped two cartridges in his hurry, for I found them myself when I was going over the ground. Cullen had been with him for years; he is an old soldier himself, and at the sight of the revolver he dropped the tray he was holding, climbed out of the window, and set off after his master, who had by then disappeared amongst the shrubberies.

"He is a slow traveler, is the old man, and he reckons that he was not more than half-way across the lawn when he heard a distant scream, which pulled him up in his tracks. It put the fear into him, that scream. He told me that he had seen too much active service not to know the cry that comes from a sudden and mortal wound. It was no surprise to him, therefore, when at last he reached the wicket-gate, to find his master lying dead in the road."

"Above him, tugging at the spear that had killed him, stood Boyne."

"There was no one in sight, and though the road curves at that point he could see it for fifty yards and more either way. He had no doubt in his own mind as to who had done the thing. Boyne must have seen the suspicion in his face, for he jumped back, Cullen says, and stood staring at him as white as a table cloth."

"Why do you look at me like that, Cullen?" he says. "You don't think—"

"If you can explain that away," says Cullen, pointing to the body, "you will be, sir, if you'll forgive me for saying it, a devilish clever man."

"You're mad," says Boyne. "I found him like this."

"And where did you spring from, if I may make so bold?" asked the butler. Very sarcastic he was, he tells me.

"I had been in the upper garden, and as you very well know, Cullen, I wished to avoid the colonel," says the young man. "I came round the back of the house and entered the Wilderness at the upper end. I was walking down the center path towards the wicket-gate, when I heard some one scream, and set off running. I could not have been here more than half a minute before you."

"The butler did not argue the matter, but left him standing beside the body, and went to get assistance. On the lawn he met two of the gardeners, and sent them back. I believe he also saw Miss Sherrick near the porch. It was upon those facts, sir, that I arrested Boyne."

"I don't think," said the inspector, shaking his head at him, "I don't think that I should have arrested him, Sergeant Hales."

"It looks very black against him, you must allow."

"Which affects his guilt or innocence neither one way nor the other. Has a doctor examined the body?"

"Yes, sir, and extracted the spear."

"Why did you let him do that?" asked the little man, sharply.

"I knew you would be vexed about it, but it was done while I was out of the house, examining the road and lawn. He was very careful not to handle it more than was necessary, he said; but he had to saw the shaft in two."

"And why was that?"

"He said that the force used by the thrower must have been very great."

"Very great?"

"Yes, sir, gigantic—that is what he said."

Addington Peace walked to the window and stood there, staring out at the elm avenue that swayed softly in the breeze.

"Is the doctor still in the house?" he asked over his shoulder.

"No, sir."

"We have none too much light left. Have you the spear?"

The sergeant opened a side cupboard and drew out two pieces of light-colored wood. The polished surface was dulled by stains that were self-explanatory. The head was broad and flat, formed of the finest jade, microscopically carved. It had been fashioned for eastern ceremony, and not for battle. That was plain enough.

Peace returned to the window and examined it with the closest attention. Presently he slipped out a magnifying glass, staring eagerly at a spot on the longer portion of the shaft.

"Do I understand you, Sergeant Hales, that you found Boyne endeavoring to run out the spear?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who else touched it?"

"No one that I know of, save the doctor."

"And yourself?"

"Of course, sir."

"Let me see your hands."

The sergeant thrust them out with a smile. They had plainly not been washed that afternoon.

"Thank you. Have you discovered the owner of this spear?"

"No, sir, I wish I could."

"Have you tried Cullen or Miss Sherrick?"

"No, sir," said the sergeant, looking blankly at the inspector.

Inspector Peace walked to the fireplace and touched the electric bell. In a few moments the door opened and a fat, red-faced man walked in. There is no mistaking the attitude and costume of a British butler.

"Colonel Bulstrode was a collector of jade," said the inspector, in his most innocent manner.

"Yes, sir."

"I noticed the specimens in the hall. Well, Cullen, have you ever seen this spear amongst his trophies?"

"The man glanced at it, and then shrunk back with a shiver."

"It's the thing that killed him," he stammered.

"Exactly. But you do not answer my question."

"There may have been one like it, but I couldn't swear to it, sir. The colonel would never have his collection touched. He or Miss Sherrick dusted 'em and arranged 'em themselves. He was always buying some new things."

"Would Miss Sherrick know?"

"Very likely, sir."

"Thank you. That is all."

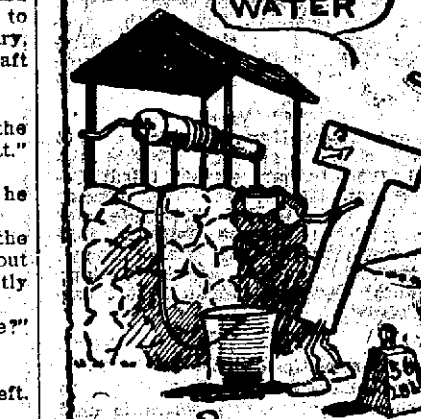

As the butler closed the door, the sergeant stepped up to the inspector and saluted.

"I should have noticed those collections," he said. "I have made a fool of myself, sir."

"A man who can make such an admission is never a fool, Sergeant Hales. And now kindly take me up stairs to the colonel's room. You can wait here, Mr. Phillips."

It was close upon the half-hour before they came back to me, and I had leisure enough for considering the problem. When Peace had walked into my rooms at lunch time, mentioning that he had a case with possibilities at Richmond, if I cared to come with him, I had never expected so strange a development. Nor, I fancy, had he.

Useless Worry. It frequently happens that a woman worries a great deal over the question of calling on another woman who doesn't care in the least whether she calls or not.

DINNER STORIES

It was at a suffragette meeting. A woman was speaking bitterly of the many rights and privileges which the men enjoyed, but which were so unjustly denied to the women.

"Say," broke in a male hearer, tauntingly, in a small, high-pitched voice that sounded well in proportion to his physical make-up, "wouldn't you like to be a man?"

To his physical make-up, "wouldn't you?"

A lawyer was cross-examining an old German about the position of the doors, windows, and so forth, in a house in which a certain transaction occurred.

"And now my good man," said the lawyer, "will you be good enough to tell the court how the stairs run in the house?"

The German looked amazed and unsettled for a moment.

"How do the stairs run?" he queried.

"Yes, how do the stairs run?"

"Vell," continued the witness, after a moment's thought, "ven I am oop stairs dey run down, and ven I am down stairs dey run up."

A Cleveland lawyer overworks the telephone to tell us this one, says the Plain Dealer:

"A woman came up to my office the other day and wanted to know if she could get a divorce because her husband didn't believe in the Bible. I told her that unless she had something else for grounds for divorce it was no use bringing suit."

"But he is an absolute infidel!" she insisted.

"That makes no difference," said I.

"Doesn't it, indeed?" she cried, tri-

People who have Consumption are often filled with bright hopes of recovery, only to realize that improvement is but temporary. Consumption is caused by every one. Those who had it and used Eckman's Alternative can testify to its benefit. No one need doubt it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:

"Gentlemen: Prior to Feb. 1906, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and mid-day chills and losing flesh rapidly, having gone from 155 to 125 pounds. I coughed and spit continually, and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home, my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alternative, and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier, and gradually diminished, and in a few days I developed an appetite, and in a month I am now in perfect health, back to 155 lbs. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative."

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema, and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years. It will take away the itch the instant you apply it."

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing, unless you find that it does the work.

Why Druggists Believe In

"NURITO"

The New and Effective Remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

We want all the sufferers in this city to know why we believe in "Nurito," because their belief is bound to be founded on ours. This new, progressive, remedy is the work of a doctor whose standing we know. There is no mystery about it—no patent medicine deception. Like men who are today working the great advances in medicine the world over, this physician has simply utilized and combined ingredients which separately were recognized by doctors as having a tendency to drive the uric acid poison out of the system.

It is their unique combination which is new. Instead of a mere tendency to relieve, "Nurito" gives absolute relief which is as permanent as the relief from any disease can be. There is neither narcotic nor opiate in this prescription—simply a harmless powder which is a complete antidote for uric acid poison. Patients who have been almost distracted by the knife-thrust, darting, rheumatic pains have been greatly relieved in a very few hours and entirely relieved in a remarkably short time.

Doctors throughout the country believe in "Nurito"—they have seen its work. We, as druggists, give it our fullest endorsement. We know that there is certain relief here for every sufferer, and that often a single $1 box will be the most convincing evidence of it. Compounded by Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N. Y.

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

So Sore Could Not Close Them. Started With Rash, Just Terrible. Broke Into Sores, Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Him Entirely.

Abbottford, Wis.—"My son had eczema on his hands for about one year. The eczema started with a rash. His hands were sore so he could not close them, and when he did his hands hurt him so he could hardly wash. His hands itched and burned just terrible and if he would scratch them, they would break out into sores. He could not get any rest or sleep, and his hands looked quite bad."

"We had medicine and salve and it kept getting worse all the time. I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after washing his hands with the Cuticura Soap and putting some of the Cuticura Ointment on two times a day and giving cloths on them for about six months they got well and have not broken out since. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him entirely."

(Signed) Mrs. Laurence Kiehl, Feb. 13, 1912. Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczemas and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but no other emollients do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough and oily skins, itching, scaly scalps, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails, nor do it so economically. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Be Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Offended Sensitive Ear.

John Randolph, a past master of cutting invective, once, it is recalled, suppressed an opponent in congress by a similar comment on a slip in pronunciation. "I pass by the gentleman's errors in chronology," he said. "His misquotations, his faulty logic, his encephalic reading of history, but—turning on his adversary—"for God's sake, sir, don't say harassed!"

Safe.

"The next time you spill your coffee on the table cloth, don't try to hide it by setting the cup on it. I will notice it anyway when I clean up." "Yes, but I am in the office by that time."

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE OYSTER.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE oyster is a species of fruit which is used to decorate church suppers. One large, elastic oyster, which has had hot water poured over it can deceive a whole roomful of expectant guests by the subtle flavor which it imparts to the soup.

Sometimes this flavor is so subtle that critical guests go away and utter disparaging remarks about the supper for several days afterward. Oysters grow in family groups, and are taken alive by men who steal up behind them when they are not looking. They are then disrobed and bound out to the Ladies' Aid society for a term of years. The church oyster bears a look of fixed melancholy, which it transfers to those of the guests who mingle with it when it hangs gray in the service.

The raw oyster is a habit which attacks people at the beginning of a meal and sometimes accompanies them home with a gloomy sensation in the vicinity of the stomach. It is customary, before eating, to choke down the raw oyster with horse radish and swear it several times with a small harpoon which curbs its proud spirit and puts it on the defensive. A few drops of tobacco sauce, sprinkled on the forehead of a robust oyster, will hover its vitality to such an extent that it can be safely attacked from its blind side.

The oyster cocktail is a temperance drink which is served to abstemious guests who have a prejudice against the intoxicating cup. It consists of one erect oyster smothered in catsup and which has been suspended over the fumes from the cork of a brandy bottle. Members of the church can partake of this beverage with a light conscience.

Oysters can be eaten only eight months in the year, which gives people four months in which to rest up and get their second wind. The canned oyster is a handpicked variety which can not be told from the standard makes, except by the taste. The greatest delicacy of all is the fried oyster, which is disguised in cracker crumbs and leaf lard and eaten by the gross.

HOME IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE REPORTS

RESULT OF SCHOOL CHILDREN'S CONTEST AT MEETING OF TWILIGHT CLUB TO-NIGHT.

WINNERS OF PRIZES

Elizabeth Kienow, Ruth O'Hara, Milton Whaley, Walter Graf and Kenneth Kober Receive Five First Awards.

J. P. Wortendyke, chairman of the Twilight club committee on the school children's home improvement contest, will report at the meeting of the club this evening at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium the prize-winners for the five wards. Seven prizes of equal value were awarded in each ward so that there are a total of thirty-five prizes.

There were four hundred children entered in the contest which opened early in the spring. The first inspection by members of the committee of the homes entered in the event was held in the latter part of May and the first of June. The last inspection was given in the latter part of August and first part of September. The various ward committees, compared noted, decided on the winners and reported to the chairman.

There has been a decided interest taken in the contest by the children and the results have been quite noticeable. Inasmuch as the prizes were awarded for the greatest improvement in the lawn and general appearance of the grounds in each case, it gave those homes that were least attractive to start with a much better chance than those that were well improved early in the year.

In two cases in the second ward the committee made mention of this situation: "Two of the most attractive places in the ward, the home of Kurt A. Fuchs, 219 Pense Court, and Edward Fitchett, 735 Milton avenue, are not awarded prizes, the former because the prizes are for improvements during the summer, and the Fuchs premises were in such splendid condition in the spring that little improvement could be made, and the second because the boy's father, J. T. Fitchett, is a professional florist and requested that no prize be awarded on that ground."

"About November 1st the various prizes will be awarded," says the committee's report. "Checks will be mailed to those receiving cash prizes. For the other prizes, orders on the various merchants containing the same will be mailed to the winners." The Twilight club itself donated $25 to the contest and other sums were added. The merchants have been liberal and the prize list is attractive as a result. The winners by wards are as follows:

First Ward. First prize: Elizabeth Kienow, 415 Chatham street; second: Allen Puhall, 408 North Franklin street; third: Julia T. Donahue, 1522 Ashland avenue; fourth: William Schneider, 922 Mineral Point avenue; fifth: Alfred and Jennie Erickson, 1403 Mole avenue; sixth: George and Louise Kaufman, Mineral Point avenue; seventh: Wayne Owen, 1014 Mineral Point avenue.

Second Ward. First prize: Ruth O'Hara, 514 Cornelia street; second: Katherine Stead, 424 Caroline street; third: Anthony and Edward Thiele, 424 Fourth avenue; fourth: Raymond Thompson, 612 Fourth avenue; fifth: Karl Foster, 903 Cornelia street; sixth: Frances Manz, 909 Hickory street; seventh: Lillian Smith, 209 Prospect avenue.

A Slam at the Eternal Feminine. The eternal feminine is that portion of the normal woman which is glad when one man can't live without her, gladder when two can't live without her, and gladdest when so many can't live without her that somebody has to be killed off.—Puck.

POLITICAL SITUATION IN "SHOW ME" STATE NEVER SO MIXED AS THIS YEAR

Elliott W. Major and John C. McKinley.

The political situation in Missouri was never before quite so mixed and uncertain as it is this year. John C. McKinley, nominated for governor on the Republican ticket, is a strong Taft man, but has not the support of all the Taft leaders. On the other hand, Elliott W. Major, the Democratic nominee, has incurred the displeasure of the old guard Democrats and may expect to be liberally knifed at their hands. Champ Clark's friends, or many of them, declare they will not vote for Wilson. The Republican party is badly broken up, and Governor Hadley, who is a big force in Missouri Republican politics, is sitting calmly on the fence. The keenest politicians are at sea. No one can tell what the pleasure of the old guard Democrats

Common Cause of Colds.

The fact that colds are more common in winter than in summer is not due simply to the lower temperature. It is mainly because people spend less of their time in the open air. Dreading the chilly air they remain indoors, the health is proportionately lowered and they take cold easily.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, permanently overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, pills, tablets, and other remedies at the best merely stimulate the kidneys, giving temporary relief. Croxone removes the cause and cures the troubles.

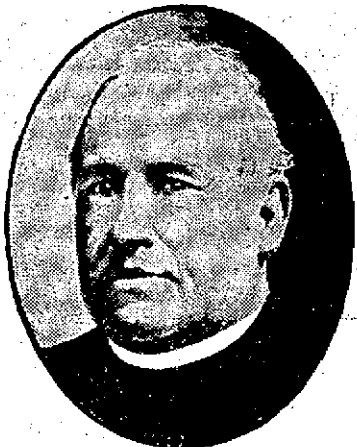

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder; and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong, healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate long standing cases, while it cures the most severe forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprisingly short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.
